

2016 Mathematical Contest in Modeling® Press Release—April 8, 2016

COMAP is pleased to announce the results of the 32nd annual Mathematical Contest in Modeling (MCM). This year, 7421 teams representing institutions from thirteen countries participated in the contest. Thirteen teams from the following institutions were designated as OUTSTANDING WINNERS:

Adlai E. Stevenson High School, Lincolnshire, IL, USA (Ben Fusaro Award)
Chongqing University, Chongqing, China (INFORMS Award)
Northwestern Polytechnical University, Xi'an, China
Shanghai Jiao Tong University, Shanghai, China
Shanghai University of Finance and Economics, Shanghai, China
Southwest Jiaotong University, Chengdu, China (SIAM Award)
Southwestern University of Finance and Economics, Chengdu, China (Frank Giordano Award)
Tsinghua University, Beijing, China (INFORMS Award)
Tsinghua University, Beijing, China
University of Colorado Boulder, Boulder, CO, USA (MAA Award)
Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, VA, USA (Two Sigma Award)
Wuhan University, Wuhan, China (SIAM Award)
Zhejiang University, Hangzhou, China (INFORMS Award)

This year's contest ran from Thursday, January 28 to Monday, February 1, 2016. During that time, teams of up to three undergraduate or high school students researched, modeled, and submitted a solution to one of three modeling problems. The 2016 MCM was primarily an online contest. Teams registered, obtained contest materials, and downloaded the problem and data at the prescribed time through COMAP's MCM Website.

This year, the three MCM problems represented interesting challenges for contestants, each offering a dimension of mathematical modeling that was unique. The author of both the A and C problems is Professor David Olwell. The author of the A problem is Dr. Kelly Black.

The A problem posed a simply-stated, yet subtly complicated problem involving a person faced with the dilemma of taking a bath in a standard tub in which the water temperature is cooling and gradually becoming uncomfortable. Teams were challenged to model this situation in both time and space in order to identify an effective strategy under which a person should add heated water to raise the temperature back to near starting levels while minimizing the overall use of water. The combination of thermodynamic heat transfer in discretized space involving a human body, dynamic evolution and distribution of temperature and human motion over time, and optimizing water resource use strategy proved to be substantial for all teams.

The B problem revisited a relatively old, yet ironically current problem of what to do about the accumulation of space debris in orbital space, which poses an ongoing realistic threat to satellites and other technology insertions and operations. While well-researched regarding potential collection and disposal or elimination solutions, the problem added as a prime consideration whether such an activity could be financially viable enough to warrant and support a commercial endeavor. In this setting, a term such as defining what "maximizing benefits" means became a major decision for contest teams.

Finally, the C problem, newly introduced this year, asked teams to develop an effective investment strategy for a nonprofit philanthropic entity called the Goodgrant Foundation, who was interested in improving undergraduate education in the United States without duplicating efforts of ongoing foundations such as Gates and Lumina. This 'Data Insights' problem provided teams with a large, real world data set containing nearly one hundred variables over fifteen years along with missing data, as a start point for modeling. As the inaugural year for this problem, teams submitted amazingly sophisticated and insightful solutions, among which the judges were well-challenged to identify the top papers.

A selection from the Outstanding solution papers will be featured in The UMAP Journal, along with commentaries from the problem authors and judges. All 7421 of the competing teams are to be congratulated for their excellent work and enthusiasm for mathematical modeling and interdisciplinary problem solving.

Major funding for the MCM is provided by COMAP. Additional support is provided by the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS) and Two Sigma Investments. COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, and workers.
