

2015 Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling®

Press Release—April 4, 2015

COMAP is pleased to announce the results of the 17th annual Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling (ICM). This year 2137 teams representing institutions from seven countries participated in the contest. Nine teams were designated as OUTSTANDING WINNERS representing the following schools:

- Humboldt State University, (Rachel Carson Award)
- NC School of Science and Mathematics, (INFORMS winner)
- Xi'an Jiaotong University, China, (Leonhard Euler Award)
- Zhejiang University, China
- Xidian University, China
- Shanghai Jiao Tong University, China
- Xi'an Jiaotong University, China
- Tsinghua University, China
- National University of Defense Technology, China

Also winning as a FINALIST is:

- University of Colorado Denver, (Finalist), (INFORMS winner)

This year's contest ran from Thursday, February 5 to Monday, February 9, 2015. During that time, teams of three students researched, modeled, and communicated a solution to an open-ended interdisciplinary modeling problem. The 2015 ICM was primarily an online contest, where teams registered and obtained contest materials through COMAP's ICM Website.

Teams chose one of the following two problems: The C Problem involved modeling churn in an organization with the intent of aiding managers and decision makers to build successful systems for recruiting, hiring, training, and evaluating employees. This year the new Problem D focused on the theme of environmental science. Consistent with other ICM problems, the environmental problem challenged teams to utilize science, mathematics, and analysis in their modeling and problem solving. The environmental problem involved developing a model for sustainability and a 20-year sustainable development plan for one country on the United Nations Least Developed Countries list. The teams used their model to evaluate the effect of their 20-year plan on the country's sustainability. Teams searched for pertinent data and grappled with how economic development must consider ecosystem health and social equitability. Teams came up with creative and geographically relevant solutions.

Both problems also had the ever-present ICM requirements to use thorough data analysis, creative modeling, and scientific methodology, along with effective writing and visualization to communicate their teams' results in a 20-page report. A selection from the Outstanding solution papers will be featured in The UMAP Journal, along with commentaries from the problem author and judges. This year's judges remarked that due to the multi-disciplinary nature of the problems, teams were able to solve these problems using a variety of tools. This allowed teams to showcase their strengths in areas including economics, ecology, environmental sciences, health sciences, public policy, dynamical systems, geo-spatial techniques and network science.

ICM is associated with COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling (MCM), which was held during the same weekend. ICM is designed to develop and advance interdisciplinary problem-solving skills in science, technology, engineering, mathematics (STEM) and the humanities, as well as competence in data science and written communication. Over the years the ICM problems have included topics in environmental science, biology, chemistry, resource management, operations research, information science, public health, and network science. Each team is expected to include advisors and team members who represent a range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary interests in applied problem solving and modeling. COMAP is pleased to announce that next year the ICM will add another problem to the options for contestants in the MCM/ICM. In addition to the two ICM problems involving network science and environmental sciences, the ICM will add a third problem in policy modeling. To obtain additional information about the ICM and to obtain a complete listing of all the team designations, please visit the ICM Website at: www.mcmcontest.com.

Major start-up funding for the ICM was provided by a grant from the National Science Foundation (through Project INTERMATH) and COMAP. Additional support is provided by The Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS). COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, workers, and community leaders.
